Big 3 Opens Nuclear Test Ban Session

Soviet To Study U.S. Moratorium On Hidden Blasts

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Three nuclear test ban conference reopened Tuesday with a U.S. offer to conduct no underground nuclear explosions if the Soviet Union joins in a coordinated 27-month research program to improve methods for detecting the cause of underground disturbances.

The issue of how to detect hidden nuclear blasts has been among the chief obstacles in efforts by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union to reach agreement to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said he welcomed the U.S. proposal and would study it. Sir Michael Wright, the British delegate, said Britain fully backed the U.S. offer.

Runs Concurrently

Acting U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle, in a move to get the resumed negotiations off to a good start after a five-week recess, said the moratorium would run concurrently with a two-year coordinated research program. Another three months were added for analyzing the research data.

Tsarapkin said he hoped the proposal does not mean that the United States intends to resume nuclear testing after two years. He said he felt the moratorium period offered was too short, but that he hoped a compromise could be reached.

Stelle expressed American hopes to Tsarapkin that the Soviet Union would agree soon to a joint three-power research program. Conference sources said he indicated the United States may go ahead with its own program, failing Soviet agreement in the near future.

No Sign Of Agreement

It was not clear whether Stelle mentioned the earlier announced code-named Vela program of nuclear research blasts. But he reiterated President Eisenhower's assurance earlier this year that the United States would not start testing without prior announcement.

Conference sources stressed that there has been no sign so far that the Soviet Union will agree to a coordinated research program at any time before a nuclear test ban treaty is signed.

Ike Receives Japan Honor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Crown Prince Akihito of Japan Tuesday night presented President Eisenhower Japan's highest award—the Supreme Order of the Chrysanthemum.

The prince, who bestowed the decoration in a meeting with Eisenhower before a state dinner at the White House, said he was acting in behalf of his father, Emperor Hirohito. The award, the first ever given to an American, was presented for Eisenhower's "great service" to Japan.

Prince Akihito and his dainty princess, Michiko, the future emperor and empress of Japan, arrived here Tuesday morning. They rode in open limousines through the streets of the capital to the applause of many of the thousands lining the sidewalks.

Political Moves Hit Fever Pitch Outside Of U.N.

Ike Is Busiest Head Of State Behind Scenes

NEW YORK (AP)—Behind-the-scenes political maneuvering hit a fever pitch outside the United Nations Tuesday, with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro joining in for a final fling. President Eisenhower, before a late-afternoon departure for Washington, was among the busiest heads of state.

Castro announced he is returning to Havana Wednesday, the first of the visiting government leaders to depart from the U.N. General Assembly. He was described as satisfied with his mission to the U.N.—climaxing Monday by his 4½-hour speech to the assembly.

The Cuban revolutionary leader scheduled a series of predeparture conferences with President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Departure Expected

Castro's departure was expected to ease the security burden on New York's harassed police force. Next to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Castro has provided the biggest security headache because of emotions he aroused in friend and foe.

Castro was one of the first U.N. visitors to arrive in New York, Sept. 18. His stay here has been marked by street rioting, and the violent slaying of a 9-year-old girl during a melee among Cuban demonstrators.

One of Eisenhower's final appointments before returning to Washington was with Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker. He also conferred with Cambodian and Ethiopian representatives and received their assurance of support for the United Nations as it now exists.

The high point of the Chief Executive's day was a meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, which lasted 2½ hours. They discussed coordinated strategy.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, summing up afterward, said: "They were in complete agreement as to the vital role of the United Nations, particularly in the Congo crisis and the need to give full support to the secretary-general in his tasks."

Doesn't Mediate

It was emphasized that Macmillan in no way sought to mediate between Eisenhower and Khrushchev, or to arrange a meeting between the two cold war leaders.

Asked about possible meeting with Eisenhower, Khrushchev abruptly brushed off the suggestion by asking a reporter: "Did he entrust you with the task of arranging a meeting with me?"

Khrushchev, meanwhile, kept himself as busy as Eisenhower. He saw Prime Minister Naim of Afghanistan at Soviet U.N. headquarters on Park Avenue, then dropped into the U.N. General Assembly.

During the day, the Soviet U.N. delegation advised police it does not want visits from persons seeking the release of relatives from behind the Iron Curtain. However, police already had been enforcing such a rule.

Both Presidential Candidates Have Triumphant Days On Campaign Tours

By The Associated Press

The presidential candidates both had triumphant days Tuesday. Democrat John F. Kennedy in Ohio and Republican Richard M. Nixon in Tennessee.

Also, Kennedy won the avowed support of Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, a canny judge of political trends who doesn't always line up with his fellow Democrats.

Nixon and his wife were treated to what he called an unforgettable sight as Memphis citizens turned out in the rain to welcome them South.

Police Inspector J. C. Legg estimated that 60,000 lined the streets and a crowd of 25,000 listened to Nixon speak. Legg said the turnout was twice as big as Kennedy had last week in fair weather.

Tennessee is normally Democratic but it went Republican in 1952 and 1956. It has 11 electoral votes in the national total of 537.

Ohio has 25 electoral votes, including its party's platform, on federal civil rights legislation and the issues facing our country.

Britain Warns West Will Use Nuclear Arms

LONDON (AP)—Britain warned the Communist world Wednesday that the West would retaliate with vague threat of "possible consequences" made two weeks ago by Maj. Gen. Nikolai Zakharov, Soviet commandant in the divided Germany.

The Soviet note did not repudiate the four-power status of Berlin. Since the end of World War II, the city has been under joint rule of the Russians and the three major Western powers.

But it made the situation somewhat fuzzier by referring to Berlin both as having four-power status and as being the capital of "the (East) German Democratic Republic."

It also accused the Western powers of using the air corridors illegally to bring "revenge seekers" to meetings in West Berlin.

It did not, however, repeat the vague threat of "possible consequences" made two weeks ago by Maj. Gen. Nikolai Zakharov, Soviet commandant in the divided Germany.

The determination of the Western nations to protect themselves with all the devices in their arsenals was expressed in a 46-page booklet published by the Foreign Office.

The booklet was issued at a time when the whole arms question was approaching the center of the stage at the U.N. General Assembly in New York. It also corresponded with new efforts by Communist East Germany to put the squeeze on West Berlin. Its approach appeared intended to answer the arguments of Britons who want to "ban the bomb."

"To promise not to be the first to use nuclear arms, even in self-defense," the booklet said, "would mean presenting a gift to a potential aggressor."

"In any case there could be no guarantee that any paper renunciation of the use of nuclear weapons would in fact be observed. The Soviet call for this renunciation contrasts oddly with the various Soviet threats to use rockets against Western and other countries."

"Therefore, so long as there is no effective agreement on disarmament, it will be necessary to retain the whole range of defensive armament."

The man was identified as Jack Friday, 32, an ex-convict. At one time during the day he had 15 sticks of dynamite and small vials of nitroglycerine taped around his waist, with a wire running from an electric blasting cap to his thumb. In the palm of his hand he had wired a small battery, and at any time could have touched the wire to the battery and blown himself up.

Ranger Capt. Frank Probst and Highway Patrol Sgt. Billy Smith captured Friday after breaking into a house where one of Friday's friends was apparently hiding him. He offered no resistance.

Milk Gimlet Is On Way Out

TOKYO (AP)—The milk gimlet may be on its way out in Japan.

Minister Charged With Libel For Falsifying Oath

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A grand jury has indicted the Rev. W. L. King of nearby Finleyville, Pa., on a charge of criminal libel.

The Rev. Mr. King of the Voice of the Nazarene Bible Church was charged with criminal libel by the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic laymen's organization. He is accused of printing, publishing and circulating a false oath he attributed to the Knights of Columbus.

No date has been set for the trial.

UN Chieftain Warns Congo Faces Disaster

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The chief of U.N. civil operations in the Congo warned Tuesday that disaster faces the young nation while its squabbling politicians continue their maneuvers for personal power.

Sture Linner of Sweden told a news conference that in some fields the Congo's economy is within a few weeks of complete collapse.

Linner said his problem is in trying to deal with three different governments "that are trying to ignore each other and, at the same time, are afraid of each other... while the country's situation becomes more threatening and more alarming every day."

The three rivals are the deposed premier, Patrice Lumumba; Premier-designate Joseph Ileo, who was named to succeed Lumumba by President Joseph Kasavubu; and the government commission run by the current strongman, Col. Joseph Mobutu.

Linner said he has the money and the staff to begin at once to revive the Congo's chaotic administration, provided that necessary support comes from Congo authorities.

Ileo asked a conference of political leaders to meet in Leopoldville "very soon" to seek a way out of the constitutional crisis.

The complaints followed Castro's marrat in speech Monday in which, among other things, he called for revolt all through Latin America and violently denounced the United States.

Lay Out Charges

Two Latin American governments laid before the assembly charges of interference by Cuba's revolutionary regime under Fidel Castro. Guatemala charged Cuba was helping prepare an invasion to overthrow its present government. Paraguay complained the Cuban regime is propagandizing there for revolution.

Neutral Hope

The proposal by Nasser, a leading spokesman for the Arab and Moslem world, indicated a neutralist hope that Khrushchev and a bold Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's job had no chance of succeeding, and that the Russians probably would confine themselves to attempts to harass Hammarskjold.

U.S. To Produce Documents Refuting Charges By Castro

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States promised Tuesday night to lay before the U.N. General Assembly documents refuting anti-U.S. charges made by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The U.S. embassy said it had no comment on these reports.

One source said that, while the flights are not openly hostile, they are at least provocative and could lead to a dangerous clash.

Three Americans Killed, Two Hurt In Austrian Plane Crash In Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Three Americans were among 30 persons killed in the fiery crash of an Austrian Airlines Viscount airliner in a forest outside Moscow, the airline announced Tuesday. There were seven survivors, two of them U.S. assistant military attachés.

All of the crash survivors were injured and one of the American attachés was reported in serious condition.

Officials said the turbo-prop airliner was carrying 31 passengers and six crew members on a regular flight from Vienna when it crashed in fog and rain some seven miles from Moscow, near the village of Kurkovo.

Reports indicated the aircraft's engines burst into fire after the aircraft struck trees.

The three Americans killed were Dr. Herman W. Ganulin and his wife, Lillian, and Miss Mary Lou Simone, 32, all of Los Angeles. Ganulin, 57, was a graduate in dentistry of the University of Southern California. Miss Simone was a sales representative of Pan American Airways and was on a vacation tour of Europe as were the Ganulins.

The two American survivors were identified as Maj. Edward Wootton, of Wilmington, N.C., assistant air attaché at the U.S.

La. Negroes Threatened In Vote Efforts

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana Negroes complained Tuesday to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission that their efforts to become voters have been met by disqualification on a host of minor points and threats of bodily harm.

James Sharp, 47, a Negro attorney from Monroe, testified that Sheriff C. E. Hester of Madison Parish threatened to take him "for a ride" if Sharp persisted in efforts to help register Negroes. Madison Parish has 5,900 Negroes, but no Negro voters, according to the commission.

Most of them took a "plague on both your houses" position—that both candidates are committed by their platforms to a civil rights stand likely to be highly displeasing to a majority of Southern voters.

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas sounded what appeared to be the general viewpoint when he told a news conference that civil rights has ceased to be an issue because "both platforms are the same."

Daniel named foreign policy, a farm program, local control and financing of schools and the maintenance of state right to work laws as potentially decisive issues.

He did not include Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion, which some other governors said might become a determining factor.

Daniel said Kennedy was breaking down opposition on this score by stating his position frankly. This view was shared by Gov. Bert T. Combs of Kentucky.

Gov. S. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia told a news conference that, so far as he is concerned, the platform of the two parties, particularly their civil rights declarations are "equally obnoxious."

In listing the major issues in Georgia, he put the farm program first and Kennedy's religion second.

Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi was one of the few who kept the civil rights issue in the forefront. He said he is supporting an unpledged slate of electors because he thinks the platforms of both parties are unacceptable to his state's voters.

"The snorer is angry at someone, something or even himself."

Two Men Die In 50-Foot Fall At Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scaffold broke and plunged two men 50 feet to their deaths on the marble portico in front of the U. S. Supreme Court Building Tuesday. Fred Lind Jr., 22, of Baltimore, and Danny Dean, 29, of Birchwood City, Md., were pronounced dead when an ambulance brought them to Casualty Hospital.

The men were placing wires about the tops of marble columns to prevent birds from roosting when the scaffold broke.

Chief Justice Earl Warren hurried from his office to the scene and got reports from persons who saw the fall.

Police said Lind and Dean were employees of the Ev-Air-Tight Co. of Washington.

Lind's father was foreman on the job.

Last November, a workman, Rex Magill, 19, was killed in a fall from the Supreme Court roof where he was repairing a gutter.

Demand For Pulp, Paper Expected To Double In 15 Years

MONTREAL (AP) — The world demand for pulp and paper will double in the next 15 years. R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said Tuesday.

In a statement issued to mark the 150th anniversary of the Canadian pulp and paper industry being observed Wednesday, he said the day will "serve as a reminder that Canada is in a period in which the world will make greatly increasing demands on this country for pulp and paper."

In meeting the vast increase in demand, forecast through studies carried out by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, Canada would be called upon to play a major role.

With annual gross revenue approximating $1.5 billion, the pulp and paper industry is Canada's largest manufacturing enterprise and one of her largest exporters.

Trio Overcome By Gas, Found In Parked Car

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — Three Georgia men were found overcome by carbon monoxide gas in a parked car Tuesday on U. S. 15 just south of this Frederick County town.

Harold Tass, 40, of Smyrna, Ga.; William Witte, 61, of Mabelton, Ga., and George Hooks, 35, of Marietta, Ga., were treated at Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, Pa. and released.

State Police said the three men, all automobile salesmen, had been traveling in separate cars. They pulled to the side of the highway Monday night and got into one car for a nap.

They were found unconscious by George Lakes of Thurmont, who spotted the parked car as he was driving his brother to school. Lakes summoned police.

Police said the men regained consciousness before reaching the hospital.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland and Delaware farmers didn't accomplish too much in the fields last week because of wet weather, the Crop Reporting Service said Monday.

Penitentiary Asks $1,332,552

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville has asked for an appropriation of $1,332,552 for the 1961-62 fiscal year.

State Finance Director Henry Ash said Tuesday that there was an increase of $231,872 over the $1,100,680 appropriated by the Legislature for the prison's operation during the current fiscal period.

The budget will be studied by the Department of Finance and forwarded with a recommendation to the Board of Public Works for hearings in December.

Warden Don Adams said the largest increase in the 1961-62 request was for $165,302 in personal services.

New positions would include a prison psychiatrist at $10,000 annually, a vocational instructor, two medical technicians, two clinical psychologists and 15 new guards.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland and Delaware farmers didn't accomplish too much in the fields last week because of wet weather, the Crop Reporting Service said Monday.

In its weekly survey, the survey said weather conditions also delayed the corn harvest, but kept pastures in good shape to supply plenty of feed for livestock.

SRC Gets Winter Equipment Ready

The State Roads Commission has spent in excess of $165,000 for heavy equipment to be used in Allegany and Garrett counties this winter to remove snow from highways.

John D. Bushby, district engineer, said the SRC decided to enlarge its force of snow removal machines for this section to handle the usual heavy snows. Last winter's experience, when U. S. Route 40 just west of Frostburg and several state highways in Garrett County were blocked for several days, prompted the expanded program, Bushby said.

Two huge rotary snow plows, which cost $25,000 each, have been bought one for Oakland and the other for the district headquarters on Braddock Road. The rotary plows are the newest type and are powered by diesel motors.

In addition, three new diesel-powered graders of the largest type have been purchased. They can be used to grade highway routes and during the winter large V plows can be attached for the snow removal program, Bushby said. These machines cost approximately $20,000 each.

Grim is also qualified for the conference by his every day work in administering the two county institutions.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners approved Grim's appointment and attendance at the national conference. It will be held next January 9 through 12 in Washington at the White House give me more protection!"

"Dollar for Dollar, Blue Cross and Blue Shield

... says William R. Insley, Farmer Bivalve, Maryland

What you spend for your hospital and medical care protection is, of course, important. But even more important is what you get for what you spend.

Consistently, Blue Cross and Blue Shield provide more real protection for the money than ordinary programs.

Recent figures, for example, show that ordinary programs return in the form of benefits, about 75¢ out of each dollar paid in by policyholders. But Blue Cross and Blue Shield return about 95¢ out of every dollar—a 25% better return!

Mail this coupon today for the full story on Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Compare the benefits offered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield with those of ordinary programs.

You'll be impressed by the difference.

When perfect play meets the best defense the spectator is in for a treat. One of the best battles of wits I have recently seen at the card table took place when this hand was played not long ago.

North's raise to two no trump certainly contained nothing to spare. While he was fractionally short of the prescribed eight points, he felt that the five card club suit would atone for the deficiency.

The four of spades was opened and the ten drove out the king. It can be seen at a glance that there are nine tricks eventually available to declarer, but time operates against him because the adverse spades will be established before he has driven out both aces. There is only one way to win the hand and that is to sneak thru a heart trick while the other spade stopper is still held. If declarer attempts to set up the clubs first, the ace will be taken and the spades cleared, leaving the ace of hearts still outstanding.

Declarer acted quickly. At trick two he led the two of hearts. West started to play second hand low, as a matter of course, but caught himself just in time to inquire, "Why is the declarer attacking the heart suit to the neglect of the five card club suit in dummy of which I

No Decision On Machines

No decision has been reached by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on the construction of a building to store the voting machines, but plans are being considered for buildings on two sites.

One site, previously mentioned, would be located on Johnson Street off Prospect Square and adjacent to the Court House. This would also provide parking space atop the one-story structure. Permission would have to be obtained from the City of Cumberland to close off the street, which has never been used for vehicular traffic.

The second site being considered is at the county garage property on Franklin Street.

Commissioner John T. Mason said that the Soil Conservation Service, now located in the county library annex building, will be housed in three of the rooms which are being used in the Court House basement for storing voting machines. The agency would pay $100 monthly for the three rooms.

E.P.A. Changes Dates Of Election, Installation

The Elementary Principals Association will have election and installation of officers earlier. At the opening fall dinner meeting, Monday evening at Happy Hills Farm, it was decided to elect a month earlier and have a formal installation at the last meeting in the spring.

Mrs. Gertrude Collins, principal of Virginia Avenue school, assumed her duties as president. Serving with her are Mrs. Sue Todd of Midland School, vice president; Miss Alma Logsdon, Corriganville School, secretary; and Paul Andrick, Piney Plains, treasurer.

The revised by-laws were presented by Miss Catherine Laughlin and were discussed. The Principal's Handbook, compiled by the local group, has been completed and will be distributed at the next meeting November 28.

On behalf of the association, Miss Grace Filer presented a gift to Miss Angela Brady, who retired as principal of the Thomas Pullen School, Frostburg, last June. Miss Brady will leave next month for a visit to the Hawaiian Islands.

Guest speaker was Jack Petry, supervisor of high schools of Allegany County. His topic was "The Trend of Education in the 60's."

Visits Here

Mrs. Thomas H. Brown, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who has been visiting relatives and friends in the Cumberland area, left for Philadelphia to visit with Mr. Brown's relatives. During her stay in Cumberland, Mrs. Brown remained with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Kolb, 203 Bedford Street.

While in Cumberland, Mrs. Brown registered her son, Douglas, at the Augusta Military Academy, Fort Defiance, Va. She will return on October 5 to the Yankee Clipper Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, where Mr. Brown is manager.

State Officers Will Visit DAV Auxiliary

Chapter and hospital projects will be discussed at the executive meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Disabled American Veterans, to be held October 9.

Mrs. Patricia Zolner of Cumberland, state commander, and her officers will visit the local auxiliary. William Clay, of Chevy Chase, of DAV Chapter 2, and his officers will visit the veterans.

The auxiliary meeting is to be on the third floor of the DAV Home, South Centre Street, beginning at 1:30. The veterans will meet at Ali Ghan City Club.

Concluding the afternoon session, refreshments will be served. A second session will be held during the evening.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Fabian is get-Alaska," John Wayne's Twentieth Century-Fox production. He began looking for the right property for himself, discovered "The Beardless Warriors"—and hereby looking around for the right propitiousness an amusing tale.

Seems "Tiger" liked the taste Beardless Warriors" by Rich of drama he got in "North to Matheson, published just last week. He put in a quick bid on this World War II story of a group of 18-year-old American infantrymen under fire, found it already had been bought.

The happy ending is that the buyer was Richard Zanuck, for Twentieth Century-Fox. And who did Richard want it for? That's right: Fabian.

Ten thousand dollars has been paid as an advance by McGraw-Hill to Joe Pasternak and Bill Kelly, West Coast editor of Doubleday Publishing Company, for a novel they are bringing out, "The Rich Are Poor."

Joe, as you probably have already guessed, will wait for publication and then make a motion picture of "The Rich Are Poor" with, he hopes, Spencer Tracy. The story concerns a millionaire who finds no happiness with all his money.

Kelly is also the author of "Gemini," which I believe Columbia bought.

In no uncertain terms, Ray Milland denies that he has any intention, as reported, of ever giving up the wonderful motion picture and TV business or equally wonderful California where he maintains residence.

Ray writes me, "I appeal to you, Louella, on the basis of your friendship for Mal and me and your previous kindness to refute the gross misinterpretation of an interview I gave in Nice. Unfortunately it was given through an interpreter and the facts were completely garbled. I shall be eternally grateful to you for dispelling the awful impression this article gives."

Most interesting that our State Department is discovering the value of stars for creating good will for America in foreign countries.

That First Lady of the Broadway Theatre, Helen Hayes, will shortly head up a Theatre Guild Company that will visit Paris, Rome, Madrid, Athens, and other European capitals.

Although Africa is in the grip of civil strife which makes daily headlines, the rumor of an engagement between Juliet Prowse and Elvis Presley was enough to clear the wires for an editor in Capetown who tried to get a story.

The editor, whose name is Breytenbach, got through to Col. Tom Parker, Elvis' boss at 20th, after trying for five days. The answer was in the negative.

In telling me the story, the good colonel says his wife, Marie, has gone home to Nashville so she could do her fall canning.

One of my sources in Paris tells me that Julian Blaustein has just signed a handsome Austrian actor, Carl Heinz-Boehn, to play Glenn Ford's cousin in "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

According to my informer, Heinz-Boehn is an Austrian movie idol, and recently appeared in one of Walt Disney's movies. I'm told there's an excellent script on "Four Horsemen" of war and peace, which is the subject all of us are discussing these days.

Money Is Sought For Lincoln Tunnel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Department officials have described a $20 million plan to divert motor traffic around and under the Lincoln Memorial, a top tourist attraction.

About $16 million would be spent on a six-lane tunnel west of the memorial near the Potomac River. This would handle traffic on an inner loop highway, some segments of which are under construction.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, told a news conference he plans to seek an appropriation soon to finance detailed working drawings and specifications so construction of the tunnel may be started if and when, Congress provides the money.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's father is a widower. Nobody has counted his money but he may be a millionaire for all we know. He hasn't worked in years and lives off the interest of a business he sold in 1952.

My husband is his only heir and we have two daughters. A rather young widow has set her cap for my father-in-law and it looks very much as if she may land him. She has three teen-age children.

Since this woman has become friendly with my father-in-law she drives a new car and dresses like Mrs. Astor's plush horse.

If he marries her his stepchildren may get everything and our children would be left out in the cold. Do you think it would be wise to talk to him NOW? Later may be too late if you get what I mean.—LOOKING AHEAD

DEAR LOOKING: Your father-in-law is well aware that he has grandchildren. If he wishes to remember them in his will he will do so without any prompting.

The conversation you have in mind may well give him the impression that he's more valuable to you dead than alive.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I went steady with this beautiful girl for over two years. We decided to get engaged last month. She was very proud of the ring I gave her and showed it off to all her friends.

This girl happens to be gorgeous with a great build. She knows she has assets and is always entering them in beauty contests.

Last Saturday she entered a contest and I went with her to the try-outs. She took off her ring and put it in her purse. I told her later this was an insult to both me and the ring. She said I was silly and I had no right to interfere with her career.

She won the preliminaries and will be entered in the finals soon. Shall I insist she wear her ring? —C. Q. 7

DEAR C. Q. 7: Don't you insult your fiancee by insisting she wear the ring in the contest if she doesn't want to. The important thing is that she conduct herself like an engaged girl, whether the ring is on her finger or in the purse.

DEAR ANN: Will you please help me to convince my husband that if you haven't got a deed to the property, it isn't yours.

My husband's stepfather gave us a small piece of land to build on. The property wasn't worth much until we built on it. It had to be bulldozed and put in shape.

We built a nice seven-room house and have lived here 12 years. In all this time my husband's stepfather has never bothered to make the land legally ours.

My mother-in-law hates me and would like nothing better than to throw us out if her husband should die first.

Please say something.—ALICE

DEAR ALICE: There's no point in telling you now that you should not have built on property without first getting the deed—so I won't. For your peace of mind, insist that your husband have a showdown and either get the deed or sell the house.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1960, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

County Tax Interest Goes Up October 1

Allegany County taxpayers who have not yet paid their county property taxes have only the rest of this week before the interest rate goes up one-half per cent.

During September all unpaid county taxes are assessed one-half per cent interest. October 1 the interest goes to one per cent.

William B. Orndorff, county tax collector, said the bulk of county taxes have been paid with only a small portion remaining outstanding.

Schooling Available For War Orphans

Applications for schooling under the four-year-old federal war orphans' education program continue to increase each year, but are far short of the number who are eligible. Sam Weston, in charge of the Veterans Administration office here, said yesterday.

This fall term starts the fifth year of enrollment of students in this program. It is anticipated that the total for this year may be nearing the peak enrollment as the 1960 fall term gets under way throughout the nation.

The education program for sons and daughters of deceased war veterans became effective October 1956. To be eligible, their veteran-parent must have died from a wartime-incurred disability. Altogether, over 150,000 young people in the nation will be eligible for war orphans' schooling, according to current estimates.

War orphan students generally must be between 18 and 23 years of age. Also, they must either have completed or have attended a regular high school. They may receive up to 36 months of education, with an allowance of up to $110 a month for each month they are at school.

The VA official said that before they start school, they will be given vocational counseling to help them select a goal and the proper course leading to the goal.

Guardians of war orphans and widows of veterans who died of a wartime-incurred disability who have any questions concerning the eligibility of children of deceased veterans for this program, should visit the local VA office on the third floor of the Post Office building.

The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The telephone number is PA 2-3611. Mr. Weston said a number of students are taking advantage of the schooling program in this area.

Firemen Called Twice In Mattress Blaze

A mattress which caught fire at 413½ Washington Street yesterday morning was the reason for West Side firemen being called a second time at the same address.

The initial call came in about 6:11 a.m. The burning mattress was doused with water and thrown out into the back yard.

At 1:22 p.m. the firemen received a second call to the Washington Street address after the mattress continued to smolder. This time the firemen tore the mattress to shreds and immersed it in water before leaving the scene.

State Acres In Reserve

The Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office reports there is a total of 1,484 Conservation Reserve contracts in effect in the state covering a total acreage of 83,875 acres.

Under Conservation Reserve contracts, cropland is retired from production for periods up to 10 years and the reserved land is devoted to conservation uses.

The contracts now in force have an average length of more than six years. Although no new land is being taken into the program at this time, the existing contracts remain in effect and will continue until expiration.

At the present time, there are 306,182 contracts in effect throughout the United States covering 28,659,973 acres.

Squabble Develops Over Chairmanship

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Tuesday was asked to determine who should be chairman of the Democratic Executive committee in Braxton County.

Democratic State Chairman Hulett C. Smith, along with Doyle McLaughlin of Sutton, specifically asked the high court to halt a hearing on the matter that is set for Elkins Friday.

Smith named McLaughlin chairman after a 4-4 tie developed in a vote by the committee.

However, before doing this, Smith first suggested that Frank Foster, Gassaway, and McLaughlin serve as co-chairmen. It later developed that only one chairman could be officially named and McLaughlin was named by Smith.

Foster claims he should be chairman since Smith listed his name first in suggesting the co-chairmen idea.

Change Cited In FHA Loan Requirements

Under a recent change in the eligibility requirements for Farm Housing Administration loans, a farmer who owns a farm that will annually produce for sale or home use at least $400 worth of commodities may, if he meets other eligibility requirements, be able to obtain an FHA loan.

Beeson Snyder, FHA county supervisor for Allegany and Garrett counties, announces that previously an applicant had to own a farm that would produce a substantial amount of the operator's income.

FHA loans are made by the administration and are used to construct and repair farm houses and farm service buildings. Since this program has been in progress, 17 loans totaling $129,820 have been advanced for this purpose in Allegany and Garrett counties, he added.

Other eligibility requirements for FHA loans remain unchanged. The requirements are that the applicant lacks the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere, be a citizen of the United States, and have sufficient income from farm and other sources to pay farm operating and family living expenses and meet payments on his debts when due.

Applications for this type of credit may be made at the county agent's office at the Court House in Cumberland where Mr. Snyder has office hours the first and third Monday of the month from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Garrett countians may contact

Mr. Snyder at the FHA office in Oakland.

In a 10-year study, radiation

New Refinement In Reconnaissance

It is hard to keep up with what's going on these days. Now it is the Blue Scout rocket that put up a payload of varied kinds of radiation detectors. The U.S. Air Force says its purpose was to detect and report nuclear explosions at high altitude.

If this first trial showed a failure of instruments, the Blue Scout is a logical further step in reconnaissance against enemy attack. Already the "reconnaissance satellite," so-called, has proved that a half dozen of them can scan during sunlight hours every spot on earth daily, sending back pictures.

With radar it could even see through darkness or cloud cover to spot movements of troops or ships. But it is apparent that full reconnaissance must be able to look up and around as well as down—so as to pick up nuclear explosions with precision.

Since precision is vital, it is not difficult to see the importance of what more of the Blue Scout's instruments are expected to do. They could help scientists draw a radiation roadmap at various altitudes in space and would note any major differences that could indicate a nuclear explosion.

This latest development, when successful, would seem to supplement whatever means have existed to detect and pinpoint nuclear tests at or near the surface of the earth. Without this development the Russians could plausibly restrict their own future surface tests while indulging, fancy-free, in bomb bursts at height of a hundred miles or so without fear of detection.

The Campaign - V

While the election of the President is very important, it is never the whole story. In our form of government, the center of power is in the Congress, in both Houses, and the election of Senators and Representatives is equally vital to the welfare of the nation. Only too often, they are passed over in the excitement of the Presidential campaign, particularly in these days when television makes the debate more exciting than it really is.

During both Eisenhower Administrations, the Congress was usually Democratic which made for delay and confusion. Were it not for the statesmanship of Senator Lyndon Johnson, the Democratic Leader in the Senate and now candidate for Vice President, and Speaker Sam Rayburn, the business of the country would have been at a standstill. For it is Congress that appropriates the money for government operations and which determines fundamental government policy. The administrative agencies of government also make policy by day-by-day procedures, but it is Congress which can undo anything that an administrative agency does or can even abolish the agency.

On the whole, the Congress of the United States is a superior body of men who represent every section of the country and every phase of American life. There is still a predominance of lawyers, but there are also businessmen, labor union men, professors in universities, farmers, almost every kind of person. It is a cross-section of American life and truly representative.

The tendency in recent years in both parties has been to elect to the Senate and the House of Representatives candidates who are neither conservatives nor radicals. Among the conservatives who remain in the Congress, Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is up for re-election this year. Senator Bridges is the leader of the Republicans in the Senate. He has been in the Senate 24 years and has served on some of its most important committees. His influence upon his Republican colleagues has been enormous, particularly since the death of Senator Robert A. Taft to whose position he succeeded. It is very important for the conservative elements in the country that Senator Bridges be re-elected this year. So few men of his experience and quality remain in the upper house.

He may, for the first time in his career, encounter some difficulty should Senator John Kennedy carry New Hampshire as he well may. Senator Bridges is popular in his state and the assumption is that he will be re-elected.

Another Republican whose re-election to the Senate is regarded as essential to the continuity of the Republican leadership is Senator Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota. Senator Mundt in both the House of Representatives and the Senate has been supporting sound legislation and has served on some of the most important committees of Congress. It was while Karl Mundt was temporarily presiding over the House Committee on Un-American Activities that Richard Nixon, then a novice in Congress, found his opportunity to uncover the activities of Alger Hiss. Mundt played an enormous role in uncovering Communist infiltration in government, a condition which is now exposing itself again.

It is interesting that both Senators Bridges and Mundt started their careers as teachers.

Among the Democrats, conservatives will favor Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas who has been a member of the Senate Committee on Government Operations. He has been a firm supporter of the Hoover Commission recommendations. As a presiding officer of the principal investigations into subversion and into labor union practices, he has been outstandingly judicious.

I mention only these three because were I a voter in their states, I would vote for these men. They have had long service, know how our particular and peculiar government functions and understand how the Congress operates in relationship to the Executive. One of the difficulties that a newcomer to Congress faces is his assumption that the Congress is a debating society, not a working body. The orators soon discover that the leadership lies not among those who, like Senator Wayne Morse, talk a lot but rather among those, like Senators Bridges, Mundt and McClellan, who work hard.

In a Presidential election it is too often overlooked that other names are on the ballots. This leads to what is called the straight vote; that is, for all on the same line with the Presidential candidate. Often excellent men are lost to the country because of this.

"And Every Time We Touch Him, He Hollers"

Khrushchev's Strategy Has Internal Aim

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What is the real reason for Nikita Khrushchev's tactics at the U.N.?

The conclusion is slowly crystallizing that the Soviet premier has his mind primarily on the revolt that he is anxious to see from breaking out someday inside the Soviet Union. His strategy is directed toward internal rather than external problems.

Mr. Khrushchev doubtless feels that he doesn't have to worry about what the rest of the world says or thinks. Nothing is printed or broadcast anywhere in his own country without his permission. The Soviet premier, therefore, needs crisis after crisis to keep the minds of his people from becoming too restive over the hardships suffered as the conditions of living inside the Soviet Union fail to rise to the standards of the rest of the world. The alibi given to the Russian people is that more and more money is needed for armaments.

An examination of recent history reveals that if there isn't a crisis going on to justify his policies, the Soviet premier has to create one. First it was West Berlin and then, when the Allies stood firm, this war scare died down. While the U-2 incident was made to order for Khrushchev's purposes, other U-2 flights in the previous four years could have readily been exploited, but the Soviet premier was too much absorbed in playing the role of "peacemaker for the world" at "summit" conferences. Shooting down the U-2 gave him a chance for a quick turnaround in tactics.

Just as soon as the RB-47 incident seemed to have yielded about as much mileage as possible for propaganda purposes, it up his failure to get better housing, better wages and better living for the 200,000,000 people he is supposed to rule.

Russians are a patriotic people. So it is important for Nikita Khrushchev to keep Russian patriotism heated up to crisis temperatures all the time. Just as the Berlin crisis and the U-2 crisis seemed to be dissolving in recent months, the Soviet premier deliberately ordered the RB-47 to be fired upon even though it was flying over the open seas. But since the American aircraft was close to Soviet shores, this afforded an opportunity for Nikita Khrushchev to show his vigilance in defending the homeland against "surprise attack."

Just as soon as the RB-47 incident seemed to have yielded about as much mileage as possible for propaganda purposes, it was time to invent another crisis. So first came a deliberate intervention in the Congo and then a decision to assail the United Nations itself. Having been defeated 70 to 0 on the resolution that upheld the Secretary General, the Soviet premier now sees an opportunity to start a whole new series of arguments about the Secretary General's office and to create an even bigger sensation in the press of his own country as the man who dictates how the U.N. shall be run.

What can be done with such a man who knows neither manners nor ethics nor morality nor integrity and who nevertheless says he speaks for 200,000,000 people inside the Soviet Union as well as many millions more in the countries now dominated by Communism?

There is only one course open.

Capitalism-Communism Showdown Seen At UN General Assembly

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK—There is growing feeling around the lounges of the United Nations that the stage is being set for a dramatic showdown between the communist and capitalist worlds.

If this glittering gathering of heads of states from almost every country in the world—which Khrushchev wanted but we did not—does not produce something besides rancid debate and raucous street demonstrations, then the impasse of the cold war can only degenerate into definite danger.

Harold Macmillan, Britain's prime minister who originally initiated the summit conference for the purpose of peppling up the prestige of his Conservative Party, has rushed to New York in the role of rescuer. Jawaharlal Nehru, the erudite prime minister of India, has also come to spread his placid wisdom over the assembly. But it will take more than the Oriental erudition of Nehru and the British tenacity of Macmillan to get the UN General Assembly back on the track of responsible negotiation.

The basic trouble is that the two men who lead the East and the West are prisoners of strong political factions back home.

President Eisenhower, a man of good motive and cautious dignity, has had his eye on the young candidate running to replace him. So he cannot afford to desert the Nixon strategy of running against Khrushchev and claiming that

It is to direct all energies toward the people behind the Iron Curtain. By one means or another, the truth must be gotten to them. Also there must be unity inside the West. Such naive tactics as some of the critics here and abroad display must be abandoned.

It is, for instance, right up the Soviet ally for some Americans of prominence to say it was "silly" to limit Khrushchev's movements to Manhattan. It was the very thing to do to a man who limits the movements of American high officials in the Soviet Union. It was a humiliating blow for Khrushchev. Its true meaning will sooner or later reach the Soviet people and tend to deflate his position as an alleged leader of world opinion.

The United States and its allies must also start energetically to use the publicity weapon effectively. For though radio broadcasts are jammed by the Russians, there should be more speeches made by our own officials telling the world that Khrushchev is afraid to let his own people know what other peoples are saying or thinking. Word-of-mouth communication is still more penetrating than any mechanical means. Ideas beamed to eastern Europe by radio are carried over the borders by travelers and tourists, and will eventually make a sham of Khrushchev's effort to pose as a heroic worker for peace.

The West could, for instance, reopen the whole issue of "colonialism" in Hungary and the satellite states. Why, moreover, wasn't the Soviet leader formally accused of treason against the United Nations when Communist arms and planes were sent to the Congo to thwart the U.N. military effort there?

The sooner the fight is turned on the Russian dictator himself, the sooner will the people behind the Iron Curtain wake up to the fact that an irresponsible boor is leading them to the brink of a disaster which would destroy millions of innocent men, women and children on both sides. "War through miscalculation," as President Eisenhower says, is still the gravest danger in the world.

(Copyright, 1960, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Mr. K's Dire Alternatives

But suppose he fails in New York—as he is almost certain to fail. Suppose he does not get from the West the revision of the UN that he wants, or the end of Mr. Hammarskjold, and the steps toward disarmament which he says are tied to revision of the UN. Then what does he do?

He must either admit failure to the Red Chinese—admit that their theory about war with capitalism, not his, is right. Or he must break with the Red Chinese and start Russia off on a new and independent course. The latter may come eventually, but it certainly will not come now, for two reasons:

1. We have given Mr. K no inducements to move in our direction.

2. It's doubtful if the Stalinists inside the Kremlin would let Mr. K break with the Red Chinese. They believe with them that war may well be inevitable.

So this leaves the resourceful Mr. K heading toward a showdown with the capitalist world with all the militaristic overtones which a showdown represents.

This may have been why Khrushchev went to extra lengths to bring every leader of the Communist world (except Red China, which was barred) to New York. He knew that a showdown was inevitable, and whichever way he had to move, he wanted the leaders of world communism to be present as witnesses and consultants.

If things moved toward peace, he would need them as supporters in any subsequent showdown with Red China. If they moved in reverse he would need their support for what might lead to war.

This is not a happy view of the drift at the United Nations, but the world's drift has not been happy ever since the storm created over the U-2 flight led to the break-up of the summit conference. So diplomats are watching to see what the tenacious ingenuity of Prime Minister Macmillan and the wise patience of Prime Minister Nehru can do to get the drift detoured.

Kennedy Drops Criticism

A secret phone call from the office of Secretary of State Herter was made to Sen. Jack Kennedy the other day—with the result that he abandoned one severe criticism of the Eisenhower Administration.

Kennedy had charged that the Eisenhower Administration had let 10 Soviet airplanes refueled at a NATO base in Athens, Greece, en route to the Congo, and that these planes had then been turned over to Premier Lumumba to deploy troops against the United Nations.

Kennedy was right that the Russian planes, which had a short range, could not possibly have crossed the Mediterranean, en route to Africa, without refueling some place in Greece. And the Greek government had permitted them to stop in Athens. Then what does he do?

He must either admit failure to the Red Chinese—admit that their theory about war with capitalism, not his, is right. Or he must break with the Red Chinese and start Russia off on a new and independent course. The latter may come eventually, but it certainly will not come now, for two reasons:

1. We have given Mr. K no inducements to move in our direction.

2. It's doubtful if the Stalinists

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Some readers have written about Gail's elopement in May and they seem to think that I will play the unforgiving parent. They'll be glad they have a Third Party with them.

Frank Gerace is 21. He is short and slender and polite: a kid with dark hair and laughing eyes. He likes to work, which is most unusual. He works at racing stables, and would like to be a jockey, but so far no one has given him a chance. I know his mother and father and they're nice people. The wail of the parent is always the same: "They could have done worse."

I wonder now what Frank Dunning thought when I married his daughter. He must have choked. I was a cub reporter getting $25 a week, a short, slick智者 who knew everything about everything. Elinor was his only child and, when we broke the news to him, he just stared at me, stuck his hand out, grunted, and went back to his newspaper.

My father never told me what Alonzo Tier said when dad asked for Jenny's hand in marriage, but the old man must have known it was coming because my parents were steady dates for five years before they made up their minds. Elinor and I required three months to come to the same conclusion.

This week, for the last time, I will give a bride away. I will give the kids a little stake, and start in life. The rest is up to them. They will get no interference from me because, if the youngsters are old enough for marriage and parenthood, then they had to tell me was a brand new story to them, but an old one to me.

Since Elinor's death, I've been a father and a mother to a teenage girl, and this is not as simple as it sounds. I think now that I failed at both jobs. Girls, I found, will confide their innermost secrets to their girl friends, but will tell the old man only what they think will please him.

I do not understand women. I've been trying through most of a lifetime, and I know less now than when I was 20. They are creatures who think with their hearts instead of their heads, and when they are in love, they dispense logic. They are soulful, sincere and stupid.

Who am I to criticize? My goal in married life was to bring the girls up properly, and Elinor did the job well. Both of them know right from wrong, and no new speeches from me will help. Therefore, if an elopement was in the cards, so be it.

Still, I will not be deprived of a church wedding. I would have preferred a big one, such as Ginny had, but I will settle for a small one. When the moonlight

Keep Bird Nests Away From Air Conditioner

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Now that summer is over, a post-mortem story on air conditioners is in order. It concerns a couple who were awakened on a warm night because of intense itching of the skin in various parts of the body. A shower brought temporary relief.

Next morning they noted a fine rash over the upper arms, abdomen, back, and thighs. Further examination revealed myriads of tiny wingless creatures barely visible to the eye.

States voting on the amendment this year are Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah and West Virginia.

Like some of the intellectuals in this country, the Russians of the same species are naive. They get wrapped up in big words and "dialectics." They worry about "revision" of ideologies, while all the time Khrushchev is conducting a diversionary tactic to cover the parents.

A search for the source of trouble led to a recently deserted nest located under an air conditioner in the bedroom window, which, according to Dr. Genest, "released clouds of mites when shaken." One of the baby wrens was found near death in a flower garden. It was covered with mites. The young wren and the nest were removed and the air conditioner and the home were decontaminated with DDT. Itching and the rash disappeared.

Dr. Genest was able to find two similar reports in medical journals in which infested nests were in or next to the air conditioner. Itching was noted first at night. Bathing brought temporary relief and the eruption disappeared when the source was removed. A 10 per cent DDT solution or a DDT aerosol bomb is safe to use to decontaminate the room and the air conditioner.

Avian mites are found in a variety of birds, including chickens, canaries, pigeons, swallows, and warblers.

TOMORROW: Baby teeth need care.

Moose And Sports Shoppe Reach Softball Tourney Finals

Title Battle Set Today At Penn Avenue

Shoppers Defeat Redmen, 5-2; LOOM Downs Post's, 6-3

By TED TROXELL

Late inning rallies by Sports Shoppe and the Moose, a pair of favorites, gave those two clubs victories last night in the semifinals of the Tri-State Softball Tournament at Penn Avenue Field.

The Sports Shoppe exploded for four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to gain the nod over the Redmen, 5-2, and the Moose tossers, held hitless for four and one-third innings, racked up six runs on five hits in the last two frames for a 6-3 triumph over Post Playground.

Tonight at Penn Avenue, a tourney-terminating doubleheader will find the four clubs battling it out for $100 in prize money. Sports Shoppe and the Moose will clash for the championship in the nightcap of the twin-bill which begins at 6:15 when Redmen and Post Playground meet in the consolation final.

Winner To Get $100

The winner of the championship game will receive $100, with $50 going to the loser. The team that cops the consolation battle will be awarded $25, and the loser, $15. The tourney, which began with a field of 18 teams, is being sponsored by the Hot Stove League, a baseball circuit for boys 13-14 years of age.

A combination of hustle and some slick defensive work by the Redmen enabled the playoff champs of the City Rec League to stay on even terms with the Sports Shoppe until the sixth inning.

Southpaw Denny Knippenberg failed to retire the first seven batters who faced him in the disastrous sixth, and by the time Ellis "Turtle" Slonaker was brought in to put down the uprising, the damage had been done.

Mike Lease led off the big inning with a double, the first of four hits surrendered by Knippenberg, as pitcher Al Sheetz, pinch-hitter Rich Smith and Brindie Long all contributed to the hitting attack in that frame.

The Tonkaway Tribesmen entered the last of the sixth inning with a 2-1 lead, having scored one of their runs in the first on a single by Bill Cook, a sacrifice bunt by Deb Payton which found Cook hustling all the way to third, and Bill Sites' sacrifice fly. The other Redmen run, in the top of the sixth, scored on a walk, a pair of bunts, and an infield out.

Martin Stars Afield

Most noteworthy of the Redmen's accomplishments up to this point, however, was the defensive work of outfielders Jim Miller and Denny Martin. In the first inning, Martin's throw from right field cut down Mickey Clark as he attempted to move from first to third on Lease's base rap.

A secondinning hit to right by Brindie Long was bobbed momentarily by Martin, who threw the Sports Shoppe second baseman out when he attempted to take an extra base on the miscue.

The run which would have tied the game at 2-2 in the fourth was erased on a play at the plate. Sheetz rapped a liner to leftfield and was on his way to third before Miller caught up with it. Miller relayed the ball to shortstop Deb Payton, whose perfect peg to Dick Sites at the plate caught Sheetz by several feet.

Sheetz, who hurled the first six innings for the Sports Shoppers, picked up the victory. He was relieved in the final inning by Smith, rocketballing righthander upon whom the Sports Shoppe will call tonight in the finale. Knippenberg suffered the loss.

Fair Frustrates Moose

Bill Fair had the frustrated Moose sluggers popping most of his tantalizing slow deliveries to the infield before they finally managed to solve him in the fifth inning.

Fair had allowed just three base runners, two on walks and the other on an error, before Mickey Cunningham ended the spell with a hard smash just inside the third base line that went for a double. Herman Lewis followed with a solid single to left center that drove in Cunningham and Clay Ingram, who had walked to lead off the inning. Pete Cecil homered to open the sixth, and after Dick Klavuhn doubled and Bobby Keyser walked, Cunningham hit a drive that got past the leftfielder for a home run.

Post's runs came on Junior O'Neal's four-bagger with a man on in the seventh, and a single, passed ball and outfield error in the second, giving the Play-grounders an early lead that appeared for a time, to be all they would need as Fair mystified the Moose in the early innings.

Lineups:

Redmen 100 601 5-2 10 1
Sports Shoppe 001 004 x-3 10 1
Knippenberg, Slonaker (6) and D. Sites, Sheetz, Smith (7) and Pence. WP- Sheetz, LP-Knippenberg.

Post's 100 000 2-3 5 1

Friday Is Picture Day For Allegany Gridders

Huskies Face Tartar In Valley; Howser Misses One Of 12

Coach Ed Schwarz last night announced that Friday will be "Picture Day" at Campobello. The Allegany High School football players will dress in their game uniforms for practice and persons desiring to take pictures of the gridders are invited to play at Beall Thursday at 4 p.m.

The Campers will be going for win No. 3 when they play Keyser High School (1-2) here Saturday at 8 p.m.

Tom Cecil, right guard, and Bob Gaffney, right halfback, have been named co-captains for the Campers for Saturday's contest.

Coach Bob Hutchison's Allegany Jayvees are slated to play at Beall Thursday at 4 p.m.

Northern High School's Huskies dropped Beall, claiming the Mountaineers were "too tough," but the Garrett countians are not taking on a pushover Saturday when they tackle Valley High of Masontown, W. Va.

Valley is 4-0 to date, is unscorched on, is rated one of the top class A schools in West Virginia and has quarterback Ronnie Richardson, who piled up 46 points in his first three games and is the state's top scorer. Richardson was injured and missed his team's 7-0 win over Kingwood but is slated to return to action against Northern.

LaSalle and Beall will be trying to snap losing streaks when they tackle Bedford and Fort Hill, respectively, in games set for Friday night at the local stadium and Frostburg.

The Explorers have dropped four in a row to Bedford and stand 1-7 in their series with the Bisons of Coach Harold Wilkinson who is at the helm for the 11th campaign. LaSalle's lone win was in 1954.

Beall never has beaten Fort Hill in football. The Sentinels have reeled off ten consecutive wins since the series started in 1947. Seven of the games were shutouts and Beall has scored only three touchdowns against the Fort Hillians.

Dave Howser, Fort Hill High School junior, has an 11-12 record for kicking extra points this season. His only miss was in the opener with LaSalle. He was 4-for-4 against Frederick and 5-for-5 in the Martinsburg contest.

Incidentally, Howser's four extra points in the Frederick game were credited to Delbert Helmick, a teammate, and this correction is being made in the records.

Dave has registered 17 points in three games. Fifteen were made in two CVAL games, including a touchdown.

The city record for points-after-touchdowns is 39 for ten games and is held jointly by two Fort Hill players, Don Decker in 1949 and Doug Metz in 1957.

Phillies Defeat Milwaukee, 5-3

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies came up with four unanswered runs in the seventh inning Tuesday night to defeat Milwaukee, 5-3, and jolt the Braves' bid for second place in the National League.

The winner was Robbin Roberts (11-16) who previously had lost to Milwaukee four times this season.

Frank Herrera, Phils' first pitcher, set a National League record for strikeouts in a single season with 135, breaking the old mark of 134 set by Vince Di Maggio of Boston in 1938.

Jay fanned Herrera in the sixth as the Phils tied the record and reliever Ron Piche struck him out to end the seventh for the new mark.

Herrera is now three behind the major league total of 138 set by Jim Lemon in Washington in 1956.

Robbin Roberts (7) and D. Hayes (2) had 10 and 9 respectively, and the Phils' 135 total was 10 more than the 125 set by the Braves.

Birds Clobber Red Sox, 17-3, Belt 4 Homers

Gentile Has 5 RBIs, Brown Cops Twelfth

BOSTON (UPI)—The second-place Baltimore Orioles walloped the Boston Red Sox, 17-3 Tuesday behind four homers and Jim Gentile's five runs-batted-in.

Ron Hansen, Jackie Brandt, Gus Triandis and rookie Jerry Adair all homered for the Orioles. Gentile, Baltimore's big rookie first baseman, lifted his season's RBI total to 97 with a double and two singles as the winners collected 18 hits.

Adair's homerun off reliever Tom Sturdivant in the sixth inning was his first major league round-tripper. Rookie first baseman Don Gile homered for Boston.

Skinny Brown worked the first seven innings for Baltimore and won his 12th game against 5 defeats. Ike Delock, first of five Boston hurlers, was the loser and now is 9-10.

Box Score: Boston 17, Baltimore 3.

Red Sox Fire Bucky Harris, John Murphy

Higgins, Mahoney Named Successors

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox Tuesday fired General Manager Bucky Harris and Farm Director Johnny Murphy.

Field Manager Mike Higgins was given Harris' duties, without the general manager title, while Red Sox scout Neil Mahoney was named to succeed Murphy.

The shifts came just two days after slugging star Ted Williams announced his retirement as an active player. The Red Sox said Williams would be a spring training batting coach in 1961 and would be assigned to "other duties," giving rise to speculation that the latest action was designed to create front office duties for the six-time American League batting champ.

Higgins, re-hired in mid-season after the Red Sox fired Billy Jurges, told a news conference that though he was not being given the title of general manager he would be responsible for all players in the Boston organization and would continue as the field manager.

O'Connell Promoted

Richard H. (Dick) O'Connell, business manager for the Red Sox for the past 12 years, was named to the new post of executive vice president under millionaire owner Tom Yawkey. However, O'Connell will work only in a business capacity, leaving player personnel to Higgins and Mahoney.

Mahoney has served as supervisor of eastern scouting for the past eight years for the Red Sox. Successor Cronin

The 63-year-old Harris was named general manager to succeed Joe Cronin 20 months ago when Cronin was chosen president of the American League. Harris, who managed the Washington Senators and New York Yankees to pennants, had served as special assistant to Cronin for two years before that.

Gresham, Perkins Fight At Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Lightweights Eddie Perkins, Chicago, and Gene Gresham, Detroit, meet Wednesday night in a televised fight, ending nearly 10 years of video shows each Wednesday.

Perkins is ranked third among the world's 135 pounders and Gresham is ninth. Their bout was rated virtually even.

It will be the second fight in five nights for Gresham, who defeated Lahouri Godih in Detroit last Friday. It was his 23rd win in 25 fights and he has lost only once, by technical knockout to Candy McFarland Feb. 27, 1959.

Gresham, 23, has scored 11 knockouts and Perkins 25, has knocked out seven rivals. Perkins' overall record is 20 wins and six defeats.

Mahaffey Injured

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Art Mahaffey, Philadelphia Phillies rookie pitcher, suffered a possible fractured nose Tuesday night when he was struck by a thrown ball during the warmup for the game against Milwaukee.

Mahaffey will enter Temple University Hospital Wednesday for X rays.

The young right hander has compiled a 6-3 record since joining the Phils in July.

Tri-Towns Set Food Campaign For November 5

Area Scouts Will Collect Donations

PIEDMONT—Annual food drive for the United Organizations will be held Saturday, November 5.

The collection of non-perishable food will be conducted by the Boy and Girl Scouts under the direction of Alton Fortney, boy scout leader.

All persons desiring to donate food will place it on their doorstep or front porch. It will be picked up in automobiles beginning at 10 a. m. and hope to complete the work in a couple of hours. Collections will be made in Westernport, Luke, Piedmont, Bloomington and Beryl.

Fred Warnick and Mrs. Robert Kimmel Jr., are assisting Mr. Fortney planning for the house to house contributions.

It will be taken to the UO store room in the Wagner building, Piedmont, where it will be placed by Mrs. Mary Wilt, Mrs. Mary Hood and Mrs. Pauline Gates. They will be assisted in the unpacking by Boy and Girl Scouts of the Tri-Towns.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, secretary of the United Organizations, at the meeting Monday evening (26) at the Piedmont Library, said that there is plenty of clothing on hand and that there is no need for a clothing drive at this time. She stated that people are bringing clothing to the office in the Union Building, Main Street.

William Thompson, president of the group, appointed Harris LeFew, assistant to the public relations director of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor of the Westernport Church of the Brethren, co-chairman for distribution of Christmas baskets of food and toys for the underprivileged.

Mr. Thompson pointed out by having a few people prepare and distribute the baskets it is a tremendous job but by having various committees for a particular part of the program it would cut the time necessary for all. No one should be expected to work more than a couple of hours the morning before Christmas.

Several problems of the UO were discussed. The meeting was opened by prayer by C. E. Hickerson.

A dinner meeting of the board of directors, their wives and husbands Monday, October 24, at 6:30 p. m. Thompson will make arrangements where the dinner will be held.

Sen. Randolph Blasts GOP Farm Policies

Addresses Rally At Franklin

FRANKLIN, W. Va. (UPI)—Sen. Jennings Randolph said Tuesday Eisenhower administration farm policies have caught eastern West Virginia farmers "in the same cost - price squeeze" as wheat and corn farmers of the Midwest.

It is a mistaken assumption that the farmers of the eastern counties of West Virginia have not been adversely affected by the Eisenhower - Nixon-Benson farm policy," Randolph told a party rally here.

He said net farm income in West Virginia has dropped by 45 per cent since 1952, from $91.5 million to $50 million.

As an example of the so-called cost-price squeeze in this area, Randolph said a poultry farmer today must sell 263 pounds of chicken to buy a $145 washer, whereas in 1952 he could buy the same type washer, then selling for $132, by selling 473 pounds.

Stock Prices Thoroughly Scrambled, Dip Slightly

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock gains of 1½ each while IBM and AMF finished 3½ higher. Most stocks showed small gains.

Brokers cited the possible effect of certain magazine articles to explain the lack of a follow-through to the early firmness. One national publication said President Eisenhower had received a "secret" Commerce Department report that the nation's economy is probably in a recession.

Another cited a story by financier Bernard Baruch who opined that the condition of the stock market today is all too similar to that of 1929.

Stocks on the American Exchange staged a late recovery Tuesday to finish slightly above their lows. Sherwin Williams spurted nearly 4 in the paints, U.S. Foli "B" a large fraction in the metals, Aerojet General around 2 in the rocket fuels and Paddington more than a point in its group.

In the early dealings, the list moved as if a rally of sorts was in the offing but the momentum quickly bogged down and stocks drifted thereafter.

Electronics and aircrafts showed the best gains. General Dynamics and Lockheed held onto

Survey Crew Gets Data On Street Costs

White Oaks Route Is Cited By Mayor

Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday went to South Cumberland to investigate a suggestion that Massachusetts Avenue, rather than Blackiston, be improved to provide better access to the Industrial Boulevard, and came up with a third possibility.

He said the improvement of White Oaks Avenue is a good possibility, since all that would be needed would be to grade the street and put a base down to get it in service.

Mayor Keech said the advantages of improving the street are that a base and surface could easily be put down to handle heavy traffic and that the new street would open another area for development.

On Monday, the Mayor and Council voted down a plan for improving Blackiston Avenue from Oldtown Road to the Industrial Boulevard.

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming on Monday suggested that the extension of Massachusetts Avenue from Oldtown Road to the boulevard would be less expensive since part of the street is surfaced.

Mayor Keech, accompanied by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, inspected the Massachusetts Avenue route yesterday. He said the improved part of the street has been light surfaced and would be all right for light traffic but that the cost of improving it to hold up under heavy traffic would be as great as on Blackiston.

A survey crew from the Engineering Department yesterday began work on Massachusetts Avenue so a cost estimate of the cost of improvements can be made.

The city officials also inspected the Cumberland Municipal Airport and reported that crews are busy, when weather permits, applying asphaltic paint to the sheet metal roofs placed recently on the 15 rental hangars at the port.

Man Gets Six Months On Bad Check Charge

An Oakland man who was sentenced to six months in Garrett County jail yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on a bad check charge will have served his term by October 15.

Earlier this year Robert B. Nair pleaded guilty to passing a worthless $15 check when tried before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney, who sentenced the man to one year in the Maryland House of Correction.

He appealed his case to Garrett County Circuit Court and was remanded to the county jail when he was unable to post bond.

Yesterday he pleaded guilty to the charge when he was tried before Judge Fraley, who sentenced him to the six-month term. Nair has been in jail since April 15 and will be released within about two weeks.

W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney in Garrett County, said that in another case heard yesterday, Harold Bowers of Kitzmiller was found guilty of stealing a Guernsey heifer valued at $150 from Ray Yoder on July 12.

Judge Fraley deferred sentencing Bowers pending a report from the West Virginia Parole and Probation Department, said Mr. Stover.

Charles William Welch, of Friendsville, was charged with removing and secreting an adding machine while under a conditional contract, pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Fraley indicated the man would be sentenced on Monday.

In another appeal case on the docket, Blain Wilburn, of Accident, who is charged with failure to buy a license for his dog, was given until this morning to get a couple of witnesses prior to the hearing before Judge Fraley, who will hear the case at 9:30 a.m.

West Virginia Prints Industry Promotion Book

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—"Great things," says a new West Virginia Economic Development Agency publication, "are done when men and mountains meet."

It sets forth—through 20 pages of text, photographs, maps and charts making liberal use of colors—to establish how this state can make its rugged topography an asset rather than liability in the over-all scheme of industrial security.

The new "Site Selection Security Study," primarily for distribution among such industrial promotion groups as Chambers of Commerce and railroad and power companies, was one of two released at last weekend's EDA meeting in Beckley.

The other was a 125-page "West Virginia Planning Manual" for use by municipal officials and organized planning commissions in projects to reshape their communities in the light of economic, educational, highway and other present and future needs.

Few 'Suspicious' X-Rays Turn Up In Chest Survey

Only 12 of the 1,550 X-rays taken during the 1960 Chest Survey sponsored this spring by the Allegany County Health Department will require further investigation.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said six cases of suspicion of tuberculosis were indicated by the miniature X-rays.

He said all of the suspicious pictures are being followed up. Some of them, he said, may be known cases and others may be found negative during investigation.

Two other pictures indicated cardiovascular diseases and

USAF Needs More Veterans

The Air Force has expanded its need for former service men, S/Sgt. Harold A. Harlow, local recruiter, said yesterday.

Many of the entrance requirements have been eased, he added.

The new requirements qualify many former Army, Navy, Marine, Coast Guard and Air Force personnel who formerly could not apply.

In many cases former grades may be restored. Because many phases of training are not required by former service persons, the successful implementation of the program will represent savings of many millions of dollars to the American people, the recruiter said.

For further information concerning the program, interested persons may contact Sgt. Harlow at PA 2-0540 or by dropping in at the recruiting office on the third floor of the Post Office.

Firemen's Meet Set October 16

The regular monthly meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association has been set back two weeks due to a state meeting and the World Series.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Sunday, October 2 at 2 p.m. in the fire hall at Shafft.

However, since some of the officers plan to attend a state meeting that day and others will want to see the baseball game on Sunday, October 9, the meeting has been set for Sunday, October 16 at the fire hall.

Sponsored by Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, the symphony concert is presented for the benefit of community service projects of the ticket selling organizations.

Dr. Kopp paid tribute to the efforts of district manager Carl C. Robbins for obtaining a third Cumberland benefit concert ap-

Phipps Favors Split Of Larger Counties In Md.

Would Provide More Representation

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Sen. Louis N. Phipps, D-Anne Arundel, said Tuesday he favors dividing larger counties into two counties in order to give them more representation in the Maryland Legislature.

Phipps said he will submit such a proposal to the next session of the legislature if there is sufficient support for it.

"If a county gets too big and is dissatisfied by its representation, we should create a new county," Phipps said. "That is the way it has been done historically in Maryland. Most of our counties have been carved out of existing counties."

The senator amplified on remarks made at a meeting in Glen Burnie. He was asked there what he thought about more representation in the county government for the populous northern end of the county.

Phipps said he favored it and was disappointed that there had not been more public support for creating a new legislative district in the northern end. He referred then to recent failures to reapportion the legislature to give larger growing counties more representation.

"I say we should follow the custom of dividing to make another county," Phipps told the meeting. "And we can do that by an act of the legislature. It wouldn't require a constitutional convention."

Phipps said the last such county created in Maryland was Garrett, which was split off from Allegany in 1872. Howard was formerly part of Anne Arundel. Today's population explosion in urban areas may merit further divisions, he indicated, if the people really want them.

Mr. Conlon made the acquaintance of his Scottish friend when the friend was on a visit to the Queen City. He and his wife met the friend who lives on the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea about 20 miles from Scotland.

Mr. Conlon said yesterday that there has been a revival of personal letter writing during the last few years.

"A letter remains the most economical, longest lasting, and sincerest means of extending greetings, communicating social news and exchanging ideas," said Mr. Conlon.

"Letters Are Links To Friendship" is the slogan of this year's observance, according to the local postmaster, who suggests that during next week individuals should write at least two letters.

One to a friend or relative from whom one has not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote.

He also urges correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among the people of different nations.

North Asks Change In Blue Shield

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. John Clarence North, D-Talbot, said Tuesday he favors changing the makeup of the governing board of Blue Shield to give the public a majority.

North, chairman of a legislative committee which studied Blue Cross and hospital costs last year, said he favored the idea advanced by State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears.

Sears, during a discussion of the recompensation of the Blue Cross board earlier this year, said "I firmly believe that a corresponding change in Blue Shield would be advisable."

North agreed and added that in such matters "the larger the lay representation the better."

However, he said he recognized the difference between Blue Cross and Blue Shield board functions.

Nevertheless, he said, giving the public a majority on the Blue Shield board would generate greater public confidence in the medical plan.

Of the 12 Blue Shield board members, eight are now appointed by the State Medical and Surgical Faculty. The remaining four are appointed by the Blue Cross board.

In many cases former grades may be restored. Because many phases of training are not required by former service persons, the successful implementation of the program will represent savings of many millions of dollars to the American people, the recruiter said.

For further information concerning the program, interested persons may contact Sgt. Harlow at PA 2-0540 or by dropping in at the recruiting office on the third floor of the Post Office.
